NZ'S ONLY 100% TREE-FREE TISSUE PRODUCTS

FAQ

Why tree free?

Cheeky Monkey tissue products - including toilet rolls, facial tissues and kitchen towels - are 100% tree-free. An easy and cost-effective way for Kiwi households to help save trees. Every year millions of acres of trees are cut down simply to manufacture paper. We believe this to be an environmental disaster and unnecessary.

What is it made from?

Made of bamboo and bagasse, a by-product of sugarcane production, Cheeky Monkey products are so super-soft you'd never know it - and bamboo's natural fibres make them strong too. Bamboo is the fastest growing grass and easily regenerates itself once cut. Bagasse is the left over by product from sugar production so by re using this waste to produce tissue paper helps remove waste.

Cheeky Monkey products are better for your home, better for your budget, and better for the environment: soft, strong and sustainable.

Is it safe to use in septic tanks?

Cheeky Monkey tissue is septic-safe, so it is safe for all disposal systems. People on tanks for their water and boaties will love how quickly our products break down after use. It is also better for your budget, as it is well-priced in comparison with equivalent-ply products.

Is it good for the environment?

And it is better for the environment - a nature-friendly choice because we are re-purposing sugarcane by-product that is often discarded. 100% biodegradable, Cheeky Monkey fibres break down fast, so they quickly dissolve back into the earth.

Where do we get the material from?

We source our raw materials in Asia, where approximately one fifth of the world's bamboo and most of the world's fastest growing bamboo is found. We work closely with our manufacturing partners to the highest international environmental standards, and we are always looking for better ways to improve our resource efficiency.
